Taking action

Connecting with nature has many benefits for our mental health and wellbeing, such as:

- Increased happiness
- Reduced feelings of stress
- Having more and better-quality sleep
- Increased self-esteem and self-confidence
- Improved concentration
- Increased social interaction with others and the world around us