Building connections

Hey, I'm Isiah. I joined the school's football team today. I was really worried about joining because I'm quite shy and not always very confident with making friends. But the team were so friendly, and I chatted lots with my partner for the football drills. I went home and told my dad about the team whilst we cooked dinner together.