Learning through activity

FALSE

It is estimated one in six children aged five to 16 have a probable mental health problem.

Mental health problems vary in both symptoms and complexities. This statistic is an average.